OPINION OF AN EXPERT.

"My deliberate judgment is that the over of the Range, as compared with others is not only more equally heated in every part—front as well as rear—but as a result of its superior ventilation the food placed therein is better cooked, while retaining a sweeter flavor, and a larger proportion of its best julees. I have found, also, that the

"I have made an analysis of your Pure Mait Whiskey, which gave a very gratifying result. Your Mait Whiskey, obtained mostly by extract of mait conversion and a very careful fermentation and distillation, is entirely free from fusel oil and any of those similarly obnoxious alcohols which are so often found in whiskeys. Therefore it can be recommended as extremely fit for median purposes."

New Jessey, I reply to Dr. Boocock's ques-tions upon his article, "Notes on Amylism as a Factor in Diseases of the Cerabral Convolu-tions," New England Medical Gazette, No-vember, 1885, p. 495, writes:

vember, 1885, p. 405, writes:

"In another place I have spoken of the well-worth of malt, and do not need to repeat my well-known opinions here, but tonching upon the suggestive words of Dr. Boocock I may be pardoned in calling attention to a fact that bears closely on the matter at issue. Putting preference upon malt and calling attention to a fact that bears closely on the matter at issue. Putting preference upon malt and calling attention to its chemistry, compared with that of the product distiliation, I submit that whiskey from malt cannot be so readily distilled beyond the point when the last C: H6 Oi is distilled over, and is therefore the whiskey to be preferred. Two pupples were fed, one on a hair pint of the best Bourbon Whiskey for twenty days and the other on the same quantity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the same length of time. They were then killed, and the former was found with well defined cerebral lesion and the latter without any hepatic cirrhosis. Moreover, a man given Malt Whiskey instead of his habitual stuff came to the laboratory to ascertain what the difference in effect might signify, as contrary to all his former experience, had stopped on the way to universal selerosis, and had no alcohol tremors or muscular atrophy."

mained there anxiously watching an engine,
No. 306, which stood with steam up immediately beside the company's shops. The engine was loaded down with police officers. It was rumored about in the crowd that she was going down after another train, and a number of men standing on the south side of the tracks endeavored to play a slick little trick to call off the crowd. About ten of them set up a shout and started on a dead run down the street toward Chouteau avenue. The idea they had was that the crowd would follow them, but they had the street all to themselves, and one or two remarks, such as "Nixy" "It didn't work," etc., were exchanged. The mass of people held their ground and stayed there until the engine came down and passed clear out of sight.

A Passenger Engine Killed.
Shortly after the train loaded with freight and police officers had disappeared in the West a rumor was direulated at the crossing, which was told by a number of the railroad men who are out. The rumor was given as "straight goods," and was to the effect that arrived with the last detachment. The parameter which led up the tracks to the shops was carefully guarded by the regular and pecial officers, and nobody was allowed within the space. Although the shops were arrefully guarded by the regular and a dead run down the street toward Chond the space of the crowd will find the parametrity described, there seemed no because a sense of the crowd will find the parametrity described, and a few said that the unusually heavy guard as the mark sind that the unusually heavy guard as the same more protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an one protection to the out-colog freight as it may be an out-colog freight as

Chief Arthur Says the Brotherhood Does Not Sympathize with the Knights. CHICAGO, March 26.—Chief Engineer Arthur believes the trouble of the Burlington engineers will be completely settled by to-night. accorded the committee by Vice-President be considered an advance in wages, although it is. But that was not the purpose of the demand, rather of the result. After we fix uphere, I will go to Corsicans, Tex., to settle uphere, I will go to Corsicans, Tex., to settle up a little difficulty there. I will not go to St. Louis. We have nothing to do with the strike and discountenance it. The Brotherhood has no affiliation with a neighbor order and will not have if I can prevent it. There is nothing reasonable in the idea that a man who earns $3 a day should fight the battles of one who earns $1, nor is there any community of interest between them to cause them to act together. The Brotherhood has always fought its own battles and nover called upon any outsider for help, and I do not think ever will." Asked his opinion of the future of the Knights of Labor. Mr. Arthur said: "I be considered an advance in wages, although upon any outsider for help, and I do not think ever will." Asked his opinion of the future of the Knights of Labor, Mr. Arthur said: "I will give you my views. Strikes mean taxation, for the men who are out of work must be paid, or they desert the order. Taxation means an excessive burden upon the order, which must be severely felt and prove an unbearable load. It has been the history of every order which went into strikes wildly, whose sole purpose seemed to be to strike, that they have gone to pieces after a few years. Take the most powerful unions which have for a time dominated affairs in New York and Pennsylvania. Where have they gone? You never hear of them now. They have all gone down because of strikes. It seems that to me that the Knights of Labor will go the same way."

Mr. Arthur is decidedly opposed to the boy-cott, which, he says, is the same as black-listing, which the engineers worked against for so many years.

The Contemplated Suits Declared Absurd-

NEW YORK, March 26 .- The Tribune this morning says: "A prominent member of the order of the Knights of Labor was asked yesterday how the idea of Jay Gould, of bringing suit against the individual members of the order, was received. He laughed as he said Perhaps it is a very good idea, if it can be carried out, but there are serious obstacles in the ried out, but there are serious obstacles in the way. You remember the old remark about first catching a hare before cooking him. In the first place, only the District Assemblies which have ordered the strike can be held responsible. The General Executive Board had no more to do with it than you had. Consequently it would be preposterous to say that any member of the order outside of these districts can be held responsible. As to those who might, in law, be responsible, the only men who could be got at would be those who have made their names public by acting in an official capacity or on committees, and the amount of money that could be obtained by indements against them would not make the company rich."

independs against them would not make the company rich.

"Could not those men be forced to disclose the names of the members of the organization?"

"No, sir. One of the most binding sections of our obligation is that under no circumstances may one Knight disclose the name of another knight. This obligation will be lived up to. There is not one man who could be got at who would not rather rot in fail than to violate it, and you may be sure that we would see that neither he nor his family should suffer while he was in confinement for the benefit of the order. I don't think I would have much trouble in spending all the profit that Mr. Gould will make out of his law suits."

"Don't you think a mistake was made in ordering out the men on the Missouri Facific Rallway?"

"No, I do not. There is one point that

The United States District Attorney's advice was sought to-day by Maj. Forster relative to protection in the movement of Government freight to the Arsenal stores. It was thought desirable in view of the strike to place United States Deputy Marshals in charge of the cars, but the District Attorney stated that there was no authority for placing the Marshal in control of the freight.

NEVADA, Mo., March 26.—The Government freight train from Fort Leavenworth, bound for Texas, which was due here last Monday arrived in this city this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The train consisted of an engine, four cars and a caboose, and notice of its coming was received here early this morning, and in the meantime engine No. 144 was being made ready to puil it from this city to its destination. The engine was detached from L. & S. passenger train No. 123, and took engine No. 144 to the water tank, three miles south of this city, where she took water. Just outside of the city limits and outside of the Marshal's jurisdiction, it was boarded by a large number of strikers and the engine killed. The Sheriff threatened to shoot, but was told to "shoot and be—." He didn't shoot and the strikers were victorious. A switch engine was employed to hauf the train back to the round-house. This will probably end all attempts to move trains to-day.

Not one in ten of the places of the skilled machinists have been filled, and those of the strikers have been filled, and those of the strikers have been filled by unskilled workmen, who the strikers say are ruining the machinery. Mulkowski's crime, an affair of unusual horror, was committed August 24, 1885. On the the evening of that day the husband of Mrs. Agnes Kiedzeick returned from work to his humble home to find that his wife had been murdered and his house had been ransacked, evidently for plunder. From appearances Mrs. Kiedzeick was alone at the time, attending to her bonsehold duties, when the murderer slipped noiselessly into the room and beat her to death with some blunt instrument. The booty secured by the fiend was a small sum of moray which Kiedzeick had instrusted to his wife for safe-keeping. Some trinkets stolen from the dead woman were traced to Mulkowski, and the evidence accumulated against him was so strong that, notwithstanding is was entirely circumstantial. he

There is a decided decrease in the patronage accorded the new messenger delivery system of the Post office. This fact is not concealed at all by the fact that several of the boys have ponies that several of the boys have ponies and jump into the saddle with their letter with as much importance as a coutier of the Czar. The truth is, there is too much competition in the rapid transit companies, and the impression is not confined to a few in the service that the Government will not be able to make the new plan work under the present system. Postmaster Hyde, who has himself inaugurated several important reforms on his own nook expressed that view to-day: "The messenger system will become popular if the law is so amended as to allow the return of reciles by the same messenger. If a parcela feature were added to it, there can be little, doubt the system would grow into great public favor."

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL is furious with the English newspapers for giving the particulars of his futile interview with Mr. CHAMBERLAIN, though the information was obtained in a strictly legitimate way. He called the reporters "a lot of d-d Paul Prys." The noble Lord will have to learn that a larger freedom in publishing the news has come with the democratic tide, and that the English press has been remodeled, to some extent, after the American pattern.

In addition to presenting a recent petition in behalf of the proposed bridge over the Kill von Kull, Senator Evarrs has formally announced on the floor of the Senate that he is opposed to the President's policy in reference to papers bearing on the subject of removals. It required ten days' restafter the first of the above achievements before the great Senatorial diner could undertake the second; but the episode furnishes additional evidence that he is doing something to earn Bur for the tender loyalty with which Associated Press dispatches always care for Mr. GOULD's interests, it would be impossible to believe that he had uttered those silly threats about suing all the Knights of Labor everywhere, individually and collectively, for direct and consequential damages incurred by his roads through this strike, or from any lawless himself had the absurd stuff sent out to the press, it is difficult to imagine what effect he expected to produce by it. THE SUN.

The Sun says: "The President's message to Congress in regard to the civil service act is not so tedious as a message of the kind might be made. It is short. Mr. Cleveland says that the act is all right and that wherever this reform has gained a foothoid, it has steadily advanced in the esteem of those who like it, etc. Mr. Cleveland has often been compared to Mr. Lincoin, and yet it was Mr. Lincoin who gave this encomium to something he did like: "For those who like this sort of thing, this is about the sort of thing they like."

The Tribune says: "Two years ago, had President Arthur selected a notorious spoils politician, one of the most unsersuations in methods, and a close associate of ballot-box stuffers and forgers of returns, as member of the Civil Service Commission in place of Mr. Raton, what an outburst of wrath there would have been. THE PACIFIC SHOOTING.

Marquis of Queensberry rules, with hard gloves, the winner to take 55 and the loser 25 per cent of the gate receipts. The fight, according to the articles, was to take place on Saturday night. Later Kelly saw Marx and postponed it until Monday night.

This morning at about 11 o'clock Marx called at Kelly's accommanded by Brandall ask you to stand firm to your noble order.

This morning at about 11 o'clock Marx called at Kelly's, accompanied by Brendell, the Chicago puglist, and told Kelly that he could not fight Bradburn on Monday, as he had other engagements ahead. Bradburn, who arrived from Little Rock last Tuesday, happened to be present, and Tom Kelly introduced him to Marx. After they had shaken hands, apparently in the best of humor, Bradburn, looking at Marx, said:

"Do you mean to tell me that you won't fight me on Monday after my coming all the way from Little Rock to meet you?"

CIVIL SERVICE SUCCESS. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—The Civil-Service Commission's report for the year ended January 16 was submitted to Congress yesterday by President Cleveland, who took from every State of the Union and every Territory except Utah. The whole number of persons examined during the year has been 7,602, of whom 6,872 were males and 730 were females. The whole number thus far examined since the act was passed has been 17,491. Of those examined a trifle less than two-thirds succeeded. The whole number of appointments made during the past year from those examined has been 1,876, each for the probationary period of six months. If to these we add 2,200; the number made during the previous eighteen months under the rules, it shows that 4,176 have been appointed in two years. Every one of the examinations has been open to all alike, without regard to political or religious opinions. About 2,000 Republicans and about 2,000 Democrats have secured places in the public service under the civil-service act.

HE KILLED THE CAT.

Dr. Justin McCarthy Charged $20 for a Feat That was the charge as it appeared on the books, but it was really a case of murder—feline murder. It developed at. Just at this moment Peckington's cat ran through the saloon, and a happy thought immediately occurred to McCarthy, who raised his weapon to his shoulder and blazed away at the unfortunate feline. The shot took effect in the back of poor pussy's head, and giving a few spasmodic kicks he was dead. McCarthy was arrested on a charge of crueity to animals, and Judge Cady this morning fined him $20. An appear was taken in the case, the defense claiming that the law does not recognize cats as property or take any cognizance of them in any way, so that no offense could have been committed in killing one.

NEW YORK, March 26.—A special from Reading, Pa., says: Mrs. Henry Franke, aged 41 years, living about two miles from here on a truck farm, yesterday kindled a fire with coal oil, and while so doing the flames ignited to the can which exploded with terrific force. The burning oil scattered over the body of the woman and upon her two children, aged 9 and 11 years. The frantic woman ran into the yard and jumped into a cistern at the lower and of the garden and was drowned. The burning oil set fire to the house. The fire was seen by farmers and they extinguished it. The children were terribiy burned about the face and body. A doctor was summoned, who stated that they cannot recover, as the fire has entered their breasts and lungs. Mrs. Franke was a widow who kept a truck farm for the support of her children.

New York, March 26.—As yet the strike on the Southwestern Railroad system has not made serious impression upon business bares, but it is believed that in many trades, it the blockade of traffic continues, there will be united to the Chiefage and out as the ordinary grades of the strike would work unfortunate results within a week. Though in some respects the immediate result of a surapension of the means for shipment to the East at the principal Western points might enhance a values, the opinion of most business men is that a prolongation or an extension of the strike would work unfortunate results. The belief among down-town merchants, however, is that the strike will fall.

A. E. Orr, formerly an active member of the Produce Exchange firm of David Dows J. Co., said yesterdây that there had been no disturbance of the grain trade in its general aspect, but the result would be disastrous to business if the trouble continued long. He referred the inquirer to David Dows, Jr., for particulars of the situation. Mr. Dows said:

"No, the grain trade has not yet felt the effect of the strike to a serious extent. As regards wheat, the movement is very small, for with the railroads holding freight rates, it does not pay to ship the wheat at present prices. To course, the receipts of all cereals as St. Louis have shown a falling off and so have those at some interior points. If the strike should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that while prices should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that while prices should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that while prices should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that while prices should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that while prices should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that while prices should extend to the Chelegro roads, the probable result would be that wh The state of the control of the cont
